KIT CARSON.

MILITARY RECORD.

2d Lieut. U. S. Mounted Rifles, June 9, 1847, to January 28, 1848.

Lieut.-Colonel, 1st New Mexico Cavalry, July 25, 1861.

Colonel, 1st New Mexico Cavalry, Sept. 20, 1861.

Mustered out, Oct. 8, 1866.

Brevet Brig.-General, March 13, 1865, "for gallantry in the battle of Valverde, and for distinguished services in New Mexico."

Lieut.-Colonel, 1st New Mexico Vols., Oct. 8, 1866. Mustered out, Nov. 22, 1867.

CHRISTOPHER CARSON, better known as Kit Carson, was born in Madison County, Ky., Dec. 24, 1809. That country had already then become too tame for his father, who moved his family, the following year, to what is now Howard County, Mo., a country then abounding in wild and hostile Indians. Here Kit remained, exposed to the dangers of a frontier life, until he was 15 years of age. Having been apprenticed to a saddler, this occupation soon proved too insipid for one born to danger, and when 17 years old he joined a party bound for Santa Fé, which city he reached in Nov., 1826; thence he went to Taos, where, living with a mountaineer, he acquired the Spanish language and gained a knowledge of the Rocky Mountains.

It is not within the limits of this sketch to follow him in his many adventurous and perilous expeditions—to the headwaters of the Gila and the San Francisco; the cañons of the Colorado; the Great Basin; the San Joaquin; the Sierra Nevada; the headwaters of the Columbia, the Yellow Stone, and Platte; the Black Hills, &c.

In 1842 he met General Frémont at St. Louis, and accompanied him on three great expeditions which the "Pathfinder" led. The story of these, ending in the conquest of California, is still fresh in the minds of the American people.

Having subsequently joined General Kearney, he served as his guide, and having while thus employed saved the command from disastrous defeat, President Polk appointed him a lieutenant in the regular army, but the Senate rejecting the nomination, Carson reverted to private life. He bore this injustice with the noble equanimity characteristic of him, never complaining, nor relaxing in his career of self-sacrifice. He remained a patriot to his last breath.

Several subsequent attempts on his part to settle down were interrupted by his giving his services in the suppression of Indian hostilities. He then became a freighter: on one occasion, hearing of a threatened meat famine, he himself drove a herd of sheep from New Mexico to San Francisco, where the people gave him a grand reception.

In 1853 he was appointed Indian agent for New Mexico, and was successively re-appointed until the breaking out of the rebellion.

It was apparent that New Mexico would become a theatre of war. Kit Carson promptly offered his services, and was successively appointed Lieut.-Colonel and Colonel 1st New Mexico Cavalry, and as such took a prominent part in the battle of Valverde. For gallantry there displayed he received the brevet of Brigadier-General. After the battle of Apache Cañon, when the enemy left the Territory, he was assigned to special duty, under General Carleton, against the Navajos. Here, while in command of 2,000 men, he succeeded by strategy in capturing 10,000 men, women and children, since which time this tribe has been little disposed to go on the war-path.

While on an official visit to Washington he was on February 17, 1868, mustered a member of the Post that on his death adopted his name.

He continued in the public service, his last official act being the successful settlement of the difficulties with the Sioux, and while returning to his home in New Mexico he died suddenly at the age of 59 years, on May 23, 1868, at Fort Lyon, Colorado, from the effects of the rupture of an artery, superinduced by a fall from his horse while in the line of duty.

His remains lie buried by the side of those of his wife, in the burying-ground at Taos.

On May 30 (Memorial Day), 1885, assisted by the military and civil authorities, and in the presence of 5000 persons, among whom a member of Kit Carson Post of Washington specially delegated to represent it, to the sound of the guns of Fort Marcy, the Department of New Mexico, Grand Army of the Republic, unveiled in the plaza of Santa Fé the monument reared to his memory. It is of New Mexican brown stone, cut in the quarries owned by ex-Senator Stephen W. Dorsey, a comrade of the G. A. R., who furnished the same chiseled into shape at his own expense. His powder-horn and pouch, his hunting knife, as well as a cane presented him by prominent citizens of New Mexico, are the property of Kit Carson Post.

Of Kit Carson it was truly said :

“He had but little time to demonstrate his character as a citizen in the peaceful pursuits of life. But in what he had, he gained the reputation of being peaceable, truthful, gentle and honest, a good neighbor and good citizen.”

“An unlettered man, placed by destiny in the wild woods and craggy mountains, far from the charms of wealth, culture and civilization, in almost daily contact with wild beasts and savage men, he maintained himself with wonderful success, and never did the inspiration of his manly heart lose control over his action. He not only impressed himself upon the people in the Rocky Mountains, but upon the whole country. Ever ready for duty, he died in its discharge, enjoying the highest confidence of the Government and the respect of his fellow-citizens.”

Kit Carson Post.

Post 2, "District of Washington," Department of the Potomac, G. A. R. received its charter March 10, 1867, and was organized, by District Commander Bramhall, in the basement of the National Capitol on the evening of March 27, 1867, with the following-named charter members: Richard Middleton (Post Commander), L. B. Cutler, S. A. Boyden, Richard Morgan, Nathan Burnham, J. H. Jennings, George W. Lithgow, George Peck, Wm. Low, and Richard F. Rea. Of these, Past Post Commander Cutler is the only surviving member now in the Post.

It first appears on record as "Kit Carson Post" August 10, 1869, having been named after its deceased member, Kit Carson, a sketch of whose life will be found on another page.

From this small beginning of ten members it grew until up to date it mustered into its ranks 857 comrades, of whom 62 died members of the Post. Its growth at first was slow, reaching a membership of 78 in 1870, falling to 18 in 1875—its lowest point since organization; again rising, slowly, to 58 in 1879, thence rapidly, until it reached the highest number since organization, 456, January 1, 1889. The largest gain in any one year was in 1882—112 members.

It is now the largest Post in this Department.

By reason of its situation at the National Capital, its membership undoubtedly embraced a larger number of organizations of the Defenders of the Union on land and sea, and of every branch of the service, than any other Post in the country, every regular organization, whether military or naval, every State and Territory that furnished men to the Union cause, having its representative on its roll; and while the Grand Army knows no rank, all its members being comrades, the Post takes pride in having enrolled on its Roster so many distinguished soldiers and sailors prominent in the administration and leadership of the armies and fleets of the Union, whose names have become household words.

In the Grand Army the Post has always held an honorable position; no small share of honors has fallen to it, the National Encampment electing one of its members as Commander-in-Chief—an honor that falls to one Post in a thousand. The present Department Commander belongs to Kit Carson Post, and it still counts four Past Department Commanders in its ranks.

The Post took an active part in all great gatherings of the Grand Army, and many of its members still cherish the pleasant recollections of their visits to Portland, Denver, San Francisco, Brooklyn, New York, Philadelphia, Columbus, and other cities. It enjoys and endeavors to deserve the good-will of the people of Washington, and to the extent of its abilities will keep high the standard of the Grand Army. To preserve and strengthen those "kind and fraternal feelings" which bind us together—to "perpetuate the sacred memory of the dead"—to "help, protect, and aid, poor and distressed comrades, their widows and orphans"—to "encourage universal liberty, equal rights and justice to all men"—what nobler work in the evening of life for men who, in its morning, risked their lives for the cause of liberty!

Having a pleasant and conveniently situated Post Hall, an excellent library, and rattling drum corps, KIT CARSON POST tenders to all worthy soldiers and sailors of the war for the Union, in and out of service, a HEARTY WELCOME.

KIT CARSON POST LIBRARY AND PICTURE GALLERY.

The foundation of a Post library was laid some six years ago by a donation of General Sherman's Memoirs. A committee on library was appointed, and comrades generally contributed books until, by donation and purchase, it grew to some 800 volumes, a large number having been added by means of a "Book Reception" held last year. The library contains many valuable works on the Civil War, a full set of Harper's Magazine, and generally the works of the standard American and English authors. Comrades are invited to contribute books and make free use of the library, a catalogue of which, as well as Rules governing the same, they will find published with the By-Laws. The Librarian is in attendance every meeting night.

The Picture Gallery, an attractive feature of the Post room, contains a fine collection of Portraits (including a life-size photograph of Kit Carson), and Scenes of the War, presented by comrades. The Committee on Decoration will gladly receive and acknowledge additions to this interesting collection.

KIT CARSON POST DRUM CORPS.

The Post has an efficient Drum Corps of ten pieces, drums, fifes, and bugles, fully uniformed and equipped, under the leadership of Comrade Jared Mundell, Drum Major. It has rendered excellent service in the Post room and on parade, and is an attractive feature of the Post.

STATED MEETINGS.

The Post meets on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month.

OBJECTS OF THE G. A. R.

1. To preserve and strengthen those kind and fraternal feelings which bind together the soldiers, sailors, and marines who united to suppress the late rebellion, and to perpetuate the memory and history of the dead.

2. To assist such former comrades in arms as need help and protection, and to extend needful aid to the widows and orphans of those who have fallen.

3. To maintain true allegiance to the United States of America, based upon a paramount respect for, and fidelity to, the National Constitution and laws; to discountenance whatever tends to weaken loyalty, incites to insurrection, treason, or rebellion, or in any manner impairs the efficiency and permanency of our free institutions; and to encourage the spread of universal liberty, equal rights, and justice to all men.

HINTS TO RECRUITING OFFICERS.

Every comrade of Post 2 is constituted a Recruiting Officer, and it is his duty to use all honorable means to invite worthy ex-soldiers and sailors of the Union to join the Post. For this purpose comrades should supply themselves and keep ready at hand blank forms, which may be had of the Adjutant.

The qualifications of candidates are:

Soldiers and sailors of the United States Army, Navy, or Marine Corps, who served between April 12, 1861, and April 9, 1865, in the war for the suppression of the Rebellion, and those having been honorably discharged therefrom after such service, and of such State regiments as were called into active service and subject to the orders of U. S. General Officers, between the dates mentioned, shall be eligible to membership in the Grand Army of the Republic. No person shall be eligible to membership who has at any time borne arms against the United States.

FEES AND DUES.

The muster fee, including the cost of the G. A. R. badge, which, together with a copy of the Rules and Regulations and By-Laws, presented to each recruit when mustered, is five dollars.

By transfer card: three dollars.

Reinstatement of comrades who have been dropped: five dollars.

Dues, fifty cents per quarter, payable in advance, on the first days of January, April, July, and October.

J. R. BROWN,

RETAIL DEALER IN

FINE CREAMERY BUTTER,

100 Fourth Street S.E.,

WASHINGTON, D. C.

If you would like to test the quality of my Troy Creamery or the K. B. Creamery Print Butter, send a postal card to my address, and I shall be pleased to bring you a pound of it on my first trip to your neighborhood. I receive the butter from these two celebrated creameries twice a week during the winter and three times per week during the summer, and deliver it to customers as follows :

Northwest and Georgetown, every Saturday ; east of 14th St. N.W., Le Droit Park, to Massachusetts Ave. N.E., every Thursday ; S.E. and S.W., every Tuesday. In the summer season each pound print is put in a neat tin package, in which it can be kept till my next trip. This is considered by customers a very great convenience, as they can put it in the refrigerator and keep it free from any odor that may come from other things in the ice-box.

My creamery butter is put up in packages especially for my own trade.

I also have New York Dairy, and Country Butter for cooking.
